- iv. This life saving device should give maximum reliability and very high filtration efficiency. It should be robust and ruggedized for carry and deploy application. The system should be easy to operate.
- v. The blower should be capable of providing adequate quantity of air to meet the requirement of fresh air of the personnel (06 Nos) working inside the shelter as also to create an overpressure of 15-20 mm WC inside the protected area. Creation of over-pressure is very essential as it ensures that there is no ingress of air from outside to inside: and leakage, if any, could be from inside to outside.
- vi. Air Filtration: Air is to be filtered in the three stages before it gets supplied to shelter.
 - The First stage of air filtration is to be through the Pre Filter/Cyclone filter, which prevents the ingress of large size particulars in the system.
 - In the second stage, air is to be filtered through fine filter.
 - The third stage of filtration is to be through the NBC filter, which has two filtration cores of HEPA filter and Carbon filter. The NBC should filter has very high efficiency of 99.97 percent down to 0.3 micron. After passing through HEPA filter, the air should go through activated Carbon Filter. The activated Carbon core should be capable of absorbing all known harmful gases likely be used in Chemical warfare.
 - After the above mentioned three stages of filters, the air should be free of any contamination.
- vii. Positive air pressure inside the shelter: The protected area of vehicle is to be made air tight; a provision is to be made to continuously discharge excess air into atmosphere when the designated over pressure is reached. The pressure release valve is to do this function. It should get activated when the over pressure reaches beyond 20mm WC. It should not allow any air to escape till the designated pressure is achieved. The valve can be calibrated to open at any pressure. The valve is to be fitted on the walls.

Other Essen Features:

- Safe & easy to operate
- Compact in size
- Light in weight (Weight of the System Should not exceed 110 Kg).
- Low power consumption
- Replaceable parts
- Efficient cyclone/ pre-filter

Over Pressure Valve

This should maintain over pressure inside the protected area
